Young Married Woman—Do you believe that those women who write for the papers telling how to manage husbands get along better with their husbands than we do?

Experienced Friend—Nonsense, dear! They are not married!—

His Remedy.

The other day a little stenographer in a down town office begged some workmen who were putting up a new telephone not to place it so high on the wall as they were doing.

"You see," she said, "I have to use it as much as any one, and I am so short that I can hardly reach it."

"Oh, well, miss," said the humorist in charge of the work, "you can raise your voice, can't you?"—Boston Transcript.

Lots of These Socialists.

"No, my child, you cannot marry Ravenswood Plunks."

"But, papa, what is your objection to Ravie?"

"My child, he is one of the most objectionable socialists I ever met."

"A socialist, papa? Surely you are mistaken!"

"No, I'm not. He actually demanded to share my wealth with me!"

"Ravie did that? Why, papa, what did he say?"

"He said he wanted to be my son-in-law."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Gentle Reproof.

"Why is it that you people have so many revolutions?"

"My friend," replied the South American, "you forget that each country must have amusements suited to its temperament. You also overlook the airy facility which practice gives. Hence your misuse of language. Those are not revolutions. They are merely somersaults."—Washington Star.

In the Moonlight.

Once, Delia says, she loved the moon,
For when it shone we'd stroll and spoon;
Now 'tis approved on different ground:
In moonlight burglars don't come round.
—Chicago Record.

Not Included.

Featherstone—Come, Bobbie (handing him a quarter), how many fellows have called on your sister this week?

Bobbie—Let's see—five.

"That doesn't include me, does it?"

"Oh, no! Sister says you don't count."

What folly to proclaim a love for humanity which no one has for the majority of individuals composing it!—

From the Editor's Note Book.

The International Philatelic Review is the best number 1 which we have ever had the pleasure of receiving. The article on U S envelopes is alone worth double its subscription price. The paper might be larger but we have no hesitation in pronouncing it an unqualified success and hope to greet it monthly.

Surcharged 3c leafs and numerals assorted are bringing as high as $1.00 per 100 cash and still a certain Toronto dealer is offering 10c per 100. The Toronto boys have dubbed him a "sheenie".

Boston Maid—I would be glad to have you accompany me to the meeting of our literary society.

St Louis Girl—Oh, such things make me weary!

Boston Maid—But we are to have an evening with Emerson.

St. Louis Girl—Indeed! Why, I thought Emerson was dead.—Chicago News.

Only once a Year.

A certain professor is well-known as a man whose scientific studies have tended to exaggerate a natural disposition to mental abstraction. The professor's friends, who are also his strong admirers, understand his peculiarity and overlook in him what might not be excused in a commonplace person. A lady is very fond of telling this incident. She was at a reception given at the professor's house. The occasion had been made delightful by the professor and his accomplished wife and daughters. Towards the close of the evening the lady, who had greatly enjoyed the affair, approached the host and asked him, with much enthusiasm:

"How often do you have these delightful reunions, professor?"

No polite prevarication delayed the reply:

"Thank goodness, madam, but once a year!"

"Just His Luck"

At a north-country station, in the early hours of Whit Monday, a little child, owing to the insane rush of a crowd of half-tipsy trippers, was pushed over in front of an out-going train. Quick as a flash a workingman jumped into the four-foot, threw the child onto the platform and scrambled up himself, but scarcely quick enough, as the engine in passing rolled him over on the platform. Several people hastened to his succor but he was uninjured, and with a face expressive of extreme concern drew out of his coat pocket a colored handkerchief containing his day's victuals, which he cursorily examined, and then ruefully exclaimed: "Confound it, just my luck!" "What is the matter?" "Why, I've broken two eggs and a rhubarb pie, and it's all mixed up in my tea and sugar. "What a blooming mess!"

Nothing for the Murphys

A Freckled-faced girl stopped at the post-office and yelled out:

"Anything for the Murphys?

" No, there is not."

',Anything for Jane Murphy?"

"Nothing,"

"Anything for Ann Murphy?"

"No."

"Anything for Tom Murphy?"

"No.'

"Anything for Bob Murphy?"

"No. not a bit."

"Anything for Terry Murphy?'

"No, nor for Pat Murphy, nor Dennis Murphy, nor Pete Murphy, nor Paul Murphy, nor for any Murphy—dead, living, unborn, native or foreign, civilized or uncivilized, savage or barbarous, franchised or disfranchised, naturalized or otherwise. No; there is positively nothing for any of the Murphys, either individually, jointly severally, now and forever, one and inseparably."

The girl looked at the postmaster in astonishment, and said: "Please to look if there is anything for Clarence Murphy."

"The Boot of Dukeronomy."

A nervous curate the other day announced from the reading desk: "Here beginneth the second chapter of the duke of Booteronomy." His vicar looked severely at him, and the young man blushed, coughed and repeated, "The boot of Dukeronomy."

A Great Change.

I have removed my business across the street next door to China Hall and in order to do a larger business I will sell cheaper than ever. Call in and examine my new stock of fall and winter goods before ordering elsewhere. No trouble to show goods.
